ELMWOOD PARK – The Village is bringing back Fight Night following the positive response from residents who attended last year's event. This year's night of amateur boxing will take place at the Elmwood Park Parks and Recreation Center, 2 Conti Parkway, on February 20. The program begins at 7 p.m. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m.

"The original Fight Night took place last year as part of our Centennial events and featured 14 fights with amateur boxers from around the country," Village Trustee Jonathon Zivojnovic said. "We thought it would a great idea to do it again this year and make it a tradition."

Fight Night will include more than boxing. Special entertainment will be presented between bouts and plenty of food and beverages will be available for purchase.

"We're really excited about having this event again this year," Village President Angelo "Skip" Saviano said. "It's a great night of sports and entertainment and a really fun way to spend a winter evening."

Tickets for the boxing event are available at the Village Hall during normal business hours and are $50 each. Ticket sales are used to pay for all of the costs associated with Fight Night.
